

30 The forme of the excommu.

our byshop, by the name and authoritie of the most mightie God, hath excommunicated him from all company of the churche of God, & hath cut him of as a dead member, from the body of Christ: In this state, & in so great daunger of his soule is he at this time. S. Paule being taught by the inspiration of the holy ghost, commaundeth that we eschue the fellowship, & company of such men, least we be partakers of the same wickednesse. Yet, as christian charitie warneth vs, because he will not pray for himself, neither vnderstandeth hys daunger, let vs all in hys name pray vnto God, that once he may acknowledge his miserye and filthines of life, and may repent, and turne vnto God. For our God is mercifull, and can cal them from death, that were fallen.
